

Consideration of request from the Indiana State Museum and Historic Sites (ISMHS) for approval of deaccession of items from the collection

The ISMHS, as an active collecting institution, is constantly improving its collection and it is occasionally necessary to remove inappropriate items from the collection. Deaccessioning, the process of permanently removing objects from the collections is how this is accomplished. Objects under consideration must meet at least one of these stringent criteria: lack of provenance, lack physical integrity, are duplicate, fails to meet collection criteria or are otherwise inappropriate for the collection before the Collections Review Committee will approve.

If the deaccessioning is approved by the Board of Trustees and the Natural Resources Commission of the State of Indiana items which are appropriate for the collections are first offered to other institutions within Indiana; the remainder of materials is sold at public auction with the proceeds being returned to the Artifact Acquisition Fund that is solely dedicated to build and improve the museum's collection.

71.967.093.0080	quilt, pieced and appliqued, doll -- Pieced top follows no set plan except centers of each "flower" are black. The background shifts from brown to black, sometimes matching the outer flower ring. The pieces are appliqued onto a length of black silks with white stripes. There is no batting between the two. The backing shows irregularly on all sides. One short edge of the quilt is extremely irregular and the backing fabric has been folded upwards to somewhat mimic the edge of the pieced octagons. Neither the backing nor the surface fabrics are flat or even. This is a very crude quilt, possibly done by a young child. The back is in two pieces. An attempt has been made to match the pattern along the seam. The backing is bunched along one side where the top applique has caught it unevenly.	sale	no potential for use; duplicated; physical integrity	$3.00
